Mixed bloods given same hunting rights

People with Ute ancestry, but are not members of the Ute Tribe should have the same fishing and hunting rights as tribal members on the reservation, a Utah Federal justice ruled Friday.

Congress gave 490 people identified as mixed bloods a share in many tribal assets in 1954 including water rights and access to the Uintah and Ouray Reservation to fish and hunt.

In 1985 a mixed-blood group called the Affiliated Ute Citizens sued the tribe, claiming Ute law enforcement officers harassed and arrested its members who were fishing or hunting on the reservation.

Judge Bruce Jenkins told attorneys for the tribe's governing Business Committee and the Affiliated Ute Citizens to draft a summary judgment order protecting the mixed bloods' right.

Earlier Judge Jenkins had ruled only the original 490 mixed bloods had the rights, not their children.

Tribal attorney Gary Montana claimed the non-Utes have been trying to expand such rights originally given to only 490 people. Attorneys for the Affiliated Ute Citizens have another suit pending before Utah federal Judge Thomas Greene to allow children of mixed bloods to inherit their parents' rights.

Specialists to be at AVMC

An ear, nose and throat specialist and an audiologist will be at Ashley Valley Medical Center Feb. 21.

David Hilding, M.D., ear, nose and throat specialist and Curtis Thomas, MCD, an audiologist, plan to return on a regular basis to provide convenient specialize care for disorders of the throat, nose or ear and hearing problems.

For more information contact Ashley Valley Medical Center, 789-3342.

Dinner dance to raise funds for orchestra students

WAITERS at the Youth Orchestra Valentine Dinner Dance are Jerry Brewer, who plays the violin, and Kelly Bowden, who plays the viola.

Anyone who enjoys good food and good music will want to attend the Valentine Dinner Dance sponsored by the Youth Orchestra.

The formal affair will be Feb. 17 in the commons and gym of the Uintah High School. The dinner will be catered and served by members of the Orchestra Tri-M Music Honor Society and orchestra parents. Dinner will be served from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. with dancing to the sound of the Uintah Arts Council Swing Band until 11:30 p.m.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce Office, local businesses or members of the orchestra.

Proceeds from the event will help send the orchestra to a string festival in Hawaii in June.

Council suggests education contract

The Uintah County Community Council is encouraging the Uintah School Board to adopt a Parent-Student-Teacher contract and policy manual.

The contract and manual outline a discipline management program which lets the parents, students and teachers know what is expected when their kids are in the school system. Such an agreement would require the signatures of the parent, student, teacher and principal signifying each role in the education process.

Concerning the swimming pool, the council recommended an outside performance audit be made of the management and financial status of the swimming pool. The committee also recommended the giving the Recreation Board a voice in the public use of the swimming pool. The Uintah Community Council is a non-partisan informational network of concerned citizens representing local neighborhoods and precincts who want to improve the quality of life in Uintah County. The council meets monthly.
